

Organisations news item

You can use this text as a template to add to your regular newsletter or to your website to tell your members about the CPActive campaign and what they can do support it.

Title: Young cerebral palsy advocates campaigning to make school and work more accessible

Content:

A new group of young people with cerebral palsy are campaigning to make the pathways from school to work more accessible for people with disabilities.

The campaign is being run by the group of young people themselves and is supported by CPActive and the Cerebral Palsy Alliance.

The campaigners have started a petition, calling for an Inclusive School to Work Pathways Strategy for NSW.

They want this strategy to:

- Be designed by students with disability in partnership with educators, employers, and the community.
- Be consistent with Human Rights Obligations under the UNCRPD
- Include measurable targets that would be reported on annually

Will you take two minutes to sign the petition?

<https://cpactive.org.au/nsw-election/>

We know these barriers are not just isolated to systems in NSW – but right across the country.

So, if you're not in NSW but would like to support the campaign, you can sign up to CPActive here: <https://cpactive.org.au/>

Find out more about CPActive: www.cpactive.org.au

Made possible by